

KPM performances and workshops available for schools

In the Beginning: (see clip) What happened in the beginning? And what do you do when someone eats the beginning of the world? Entertaining 15 minute performance (accessible for all ages) with physical theatre style and dance. Followed by:

'Creation and Creativity' WORKSHOP (adaptable for any age-group)

This workshop (approx. 1 to 1½ hours) links to the performance of 'In the Beginning' and explores creativity. It encourages the imaginative development of performance material and offers some tools of how this can then become part of a creative whole. The result will amaze and delight as we discover our God given ability to be creative – even starting from nothing!

Get in the Boat (see clip) Using a high energy physical theatre style, this highly entertaining 15 minute piece tells the story of some characters 'living rough' that discover the need for rules. Followed by:

'Did I do wrong?' WORKSHOP (suitable for age 9+)

This workshop (approx. 1 to 1½ hours) links to the performance of 'Get in the Boat' and explores concepts of rules (and ideas of right and wrong) and the consequences for both the individual and society of breaking them. The children have fun and yet grapple with some big issues of life and faith. Book now

The Lord's Prayer

This workshop (approx. 1 to 1½ hours) is highly adaptable to different age-groups. The group firstly explores the prayer with some choreographed movements. This allows them to think about the words and their meaning and then apply these principals to developing their own prayers individually and in groups. Book now

The Prodigal Son

This workshop (approx. 1 to 1½ hours) is adaptable for age-groups (but ideally for 9+) and explores this famous parable. We discover through drama how it feels to want to rebel, what the consequences were (and why) in the story, and finally what it takes to ask for forgiveness. Jesus told the story to demonstrate something about the fundamental nature of the God of the bible that may take some by surprise. Book now